Created in 2005, Anjali House is a centre that provides refuge, care and education for more than 80 under-privileged children between the ages of 4 and 16 years old. Each year, and as part of the Angkor Photo Festival, the children of Anjali have been participating in annual photo workshops supervised by renowned international photographers. This book presents pictures taken by the children during the 2008 and 2009 photo workshops.
